NGSA Statement on Cancellation of Atlantic Coast Pipeline Project

(Washington, D.C.) – The Natural Gas Supply Association (NGSA) today issued the following statement on the announcement of cancellation of the Atlantic Coast Pipeline Project.

Dena Wiggins, president and CEO of NGSA said:

“It’s a shame that litigation and regulatory delays brought this necessary project to a halt to the detriment of household and businesses who would have benefited from access to affordable natural gas.

“Natural gas has not only enabled tremendous reductions in carbon dioxide over the last decade, but also will continue to be a reliable partner to renewables over the coming decades. It is an essential building block of the clean energy future.

“Instead of taking away consumers’ choices, we should be allowing communities to reap the benefits of our natural gas resources, which can grow their economies and drive down emissions at the same time.”

The Natural Gas Supply Association (NGSA) represents integrated and independent companies that supply natural gas. Founded in 1965, NGSA is the only national trade association that solely focuses on producer-marketer issues related to the downstream natural gas industry. NGSA advocates for well-functioning markets that foster a growing, competitive market for natural gas. NGSA is dedicated to achieving a cleaner future through strong partnerships with renewables and supporting innovative technologies and market solutions that reduce emissions.
