NGSA Congratulates Wellinghoff's Appointment

(Washington, DC) The Natural Gas Supply Association (NGSA) congratulates Jon Wellinghoff for his recent appointment as Acting Chairman of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). Acting Chairman Wellinghoff has been a strong contributor at FERC over the past three years as a commissioner and we are eager to work with him in his new role.

Skip Horvath, President and CEO of NGSA, commented, "Chairman Wellinghoff is an intelligent leader with a solid appreciation for how the new administration expects to meet the nation's future energy needs while implementing environmental measures. There is no question that Jon will provide great leadership at FERC at an important time of change. We look forward to working with Chairman Wellinghoff as FERC sites new natural gas infrastructure. Natural gas remains integral as a back-up for renewable energy while future storage technologies are being developed."
