

Casey Hollers Director, Regulatory Affairs

Casey Hollers is the Director of Regulatory Affairs for the Natural Gas Supply Association. She joined NGSA in 2014.

As Director, Casey supports the membership's development of its position and advocacy related to natural gas infrastructure policies, interstate natural gas pipeline rates issues, FERC enforcement policies and other policy issues of interest. In her role, Casey is responsible for drafting filings on behalf of the membership, preparing educational presentations and briefing members on significant legal and federal developments impacting the industry. In addition to representing members interests before the Federal Regulatory Commission (FERC), Casey collaborates with industry groups and other key organizations to advance common interests. Casey also works with the Executive Vice President to develop positions on emerging regulatory issues.

Prior to joining NGSA, Casey worked as a professional development and training coordinator for Kirkland & Ellis LLP. During Casey's time at Kirkland, she advised many of the internal committees by helping to draft and implement new initiatives. Her work also included organizing seminars and networking events, and overseeing professional training programs.

Casey Hollers is a graduate of the University of Maryland with a degree in Government & Politics.
