NGSA Commends NARUC on Resolution Supporting Legislation to Allow FERC To Order Refunds for Pipeline Overcharges

(Washington, D.C.) – The Natural Gas Supply Association (NGSA) commended today’s action by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC) to support legislation that would allow FERC to approve refunds when it has been determined that the pipeline rates for shipping natural gas have resulted in an overcharge.

Dena Wiggins, President and CEO of NGSA said:

“We applaud NARUC’s action and commend the NARUC leadership as well as the leadership from the Gas Committee on this important issue. This resolution is an important expression of support from NARUC for an initiative that can benefit all consumers of natural gas, including households and businesses. Excessive pipeline rates can cost consumers billions of dollars and, if implemented, the legislation NARUC supports would give natural gas customers the same protections already afforded to electricity customers.

We look forward to continuing to work with NARUC and appropriate Congressional leaders to provide FERC the necessary tools to protect consumers.”
